

Freedom Memorials Premieres National Afghanistan & Iraq War Memorial (February 14, 2008)

Freedom Memorials will honor those lost in the Afghanistan and Iraq wars with innovative tributes.

Raleigh, NC February 14, 2008 - For Immediate Release -- Freedom Memorials premieres the National Afghanistan & Iraq War Memorial via their new Web Site.

Freedom Memorials (www.freedommemorials.org) will honor the heroes from the United States and our coalition allies lost in the Afghanistan and Iraq wars using innovative, etched black surgical stainless steel tributes developed specifically for this memorial. The National Afghanistan & Iraq War Memorial will be a living monument, as are other local and state commemorations.

The National Afghanistan & Iraq War Memorial is destined for Thunderbird Park, adjacent to the prestigious 45th Infantry Division Museum in Oklahoma City, OK. This memorial is designed to remember the fallen like no other in the world. Jason Savage, designer and project director, affirmed, "When you place a name, tribute and a face together, the reality of these hero's sacrifices, what each has given for our freedom, elicits a personal contemplation and thankfulness for the life we have. We view these losses with a different perspective."

You can reach Jason Savage at director@freedommemorials.org or 919-662-1850.